End of Farce, By Desire, Miss Rose will speak the Epilogue to The Doctor Last in His Chariot, and the Original Prologue by Davis.
ENTERTAINMENT. Scrub's Trip to the Jubilee (a New Occasional Prologue) by Weston.
COMMENT. Benefit for Weston and Miss Ogilvie. By Authority. Being the Last Night. [Many advance bills noted the continuous deferment of this on account of Weston's bad state of health.] Mr Weston's late and precarious State of Health making it extremely doubtful whether he could go through so long and laborious part as Richard, he humbly recommends to the Public Mr Gentleman's friendly intention of undertaking the Character for that Night, and will for the Capital Entertainment of his Friends, speak a new Occasional Prologue, and appear in the Farce, that the strength he has gained for some Days past may not be impaired by Fatigue.

* For performances at DL and CG, 16 and 18 September, see Season of 1769-1770, p. 1423.
