HAY
- COMMENT. By Permission of the Lord Chamberlain. Benefit for Lady Perrott and her Orphan Family. Lady Perrott trusts that this will be her last appeal to public commiseration, hoping to obtain justice from her claims in Jamaica. When it is considered that these agonizing efforts to preserve five helpless children are made by a woman born to all the delicate indulgences attending on rank and fashion, every species of apology would be deemed an insult to the most amiable attribute of human nature—a sympathising heart. Tickets to be had of Lady Perrott, No. 28, Spring-street, Portman-square.

- COMMENT. By Command of Their Majesties. “Towards the conclusion [of afterpiece, Miss De Camp] fell with Kelly, while in the act of running down the stage; her head striking with so much violence against the boards that she fainted away [having received a severe contusion that necessitated surgery]” (Morning Herald, 8 Feb.). “It is to be hoped that the events of Thursday Evening will prove a wholesome warning to the servants of the Theatre, and enforce the necessity of sweeping the stage with greater care. The disaster, it seems, originated in the peel of an orange, which the Copper Captain [in mainpiece] throws away” (Dramatic Censor, I, 210). Receipts: £591 19s. (525/13/6; 63/5/6; 3/0/0).
